Making a Difference in the Community

Home > About Intel > Intel in Your Community

Intel in Your Community

Community grants

Intel sites offer funding to help enhance and enrich their communities. Our focus is primarily on education with programs that provide students with the tools they need to thrive in the 21st century.

- » Online U.S. grant application
- » International grant application

Communities

We don't just work in our communities. We work with them. Each major Intel site supports outreach programs that address the priorities and concerns of surrounding communities.

Community solutions

Technology brings the world closer together every day. Intel works with communities everywhere, bringing creative minds and cutting-edge technology together to help solve community challenges worldwide.

Corporate responsibility

Find out about Intel's business practices and culture, and how we strive to be a responsible corporate citizen worldwide.

Mentoring And Planning Services (MAPS)

What is MAPS?

MAPS = Mentoring And Planning Services

If you are interested in volunteering your continuous improvement skills within the Arizona community, please contact the Arizona site coordinator Bill Hoddy - 554-5268.

I have a background in Lean and continuous improvement, and have been applying these skills at Intel for many years. I find it very rewarding to share my skills and expertise by mentoring non-profit organizations and helping them improve and become more effective in their respective industries.
